Farmstead Shelterbelts Increase Crop Yields In Dry Seasons

By J. S. LORE

Old Mother Nature it seems has turned her wrath on us and will not let up. The amount of snow we have had must surely approach a record for this time of year; and taking the wind into consideration it is a very hard winter.

If you are one of the unfortunates who has deep snow drifted in your yard, now is the time to plan where to plant a shelterbelt in order to hold the snow before it drifts into the yard. Of course, it takes a few years for the trees to grow up to be of much benefit but those years seem to have a habit of slipping by very fast and a shelterbelt planted next year will be showing its effect in a very few years.

In general, the shelterbelt should not be closer than 100 feet to any buildings or roads, but with the snow and drifts we have, you should be able to appraise your own situation pretty good.

The strip to be planted to trees should be summerfallowed for one year before planting. This practice will speed the growth of the trees and make it much easier to control the weeds.

Perhaps you may wish to put a strip of trees through one of your fields or along the road to hold the snow in the field in the winter and to cut down evaporation losses in the summer.

Farmstead shelterbelts should consist of several rows of trees of which one or two rows should be evergreens. Field or roadside shelters can consist of one to three or four rows of trees. One type of field shelter is caragana alone or caragana spaced one foot apart with every fifth or tenth tree a poplar or other tree.

Field shelterbelts can be of special advantage in a dry year, as in areas where they have tested them crop yields have shown significant increases over similar areas without them. We have had an extremely wet period, and it is not unlikely that it will be followed by a few dry years.

If you should decide to plant a shelterbelt of some kind, please contact me in Lac la Biche and I will be happy to take your application for trees. Shelterbelt trees can be obtained free of charge from the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Annonymous Gift To Purchase Skates

At a recent meeting of the Lac la Biche Skating Rink Committtee held in St. Andrew's Rectory, Lac la Biche, a gift of $150.00 was received from a local man. After passing a resolution thanking the donor (who asked to remain anonymous) the committee voted to purchase 10 pairs of skates, which would be on loan at the rink to those children, who did not have them.

Satisfaction was expressed with the work of George Blair, superintendent of the rink, who many thought was doing an excellent job. Those attending the meeting included Oscar Tremblay, Miss Iris Duban, Mrs. Jack Williams, Mrs. Marshall Hamar, Steve Hamar, Floyd McMillan, Sid Lore, Mrs. Ruth Proctor, secretary, and the Rev. R. S. H. Greene, president.

Owl River Scribe Visits U.S.A.

Yours truly is not in possession of any neighborhood news at this writing, except that I am very glad to get home again after visiting my father in southern Texas, also other relatives there, and in different States.

Altogether I visited 12 States and crossed Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. I found the northern States covered with a blanket of snow, the same as our own Owl River country, but the southern States were having warm weather when I was there, with temperatures ranging upward to 85 above at times.

I spent most of my time in Texas travelling from north to south and west to east visiting relatives, until I felt like the old Negro man, who took his first train ride there and said:

"The sun has riz
The sun has set
An' heah I is
In Texas yet."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bobby O'Brien on the birth of a baby son, Dec. 28.

VISITS SUN OFFICE

While in the city recently, I had a chance to go into the Sun Publishing Co. office and was introduced to Mrs. Pue. A member of the staff showed my son, daughter and myself around the premises and we saw all the workings of the newspaper. I was greatly impressed by all the machinery, and saw our town paper coming off the press, and marvelled at how much work goes into a copy for such a small sum, therefore, it is up to the people from each town to give all important events to the local editor, or a reporter, that it may be published in the paper to make interesting news for all.

Claimants Sought For $54,400,000

OTTAWA — The government has $54,400,000 waiting for several thousand Canadians who just haven't bothered to claim it—some for as long as 40 years.

The money is for government securities, bought years ago, which matured without being presented for final settlement. They no longer earn interest for their holders.

The finance department, which holds the money, has no way of estimating how many people there are with rightful but still unmade claims. Most would be small investors, for the department has found that holders of big blocks of securities don't usually forget to cash them in at maturity.

The oldest outstanding securities are $4,400 in 1915 First World War bonds. There are also many First World War savings certificates.

Outstanding are $72,260 in 1915 war savings certificates and $8,000 in 1917 certificates. For years none had been turned in for redemption until a few months ago, when $71 worth were mailed for payment.

Buyers of Second World War securities apparently were just as forgetful. Outstanding are $1,055,000 in First Victory Loan bonds which stopped earning interest nearly five years ago, and $38,000,000 in Second Victory Loan bonds which matured last year.

In addition there are $7,900,000 in unredeemed war savings certificates of the Second World War. The most recent of them stopped earning interest months ago.

Holders of registered securities were notified by mail when the bonds matured. But many bonds weren't registered and it's up to the owners if they want payment.

From time to time, the finance department says, it runs advertisements on the theme of "come and get it."

Thousands still haven't.

Netted Gems From Winterburn Tops In Dryness

EDMONTON (BUP) — Competing with entries from six provinces and states at the Royal Winter Fair, the Alberta potato ranked highest for dryness on the dinner plate.

Alberta Gems shown in the new cooking class won the first eight prizes with the exception of sixth place.

Under the hydrometer test for dry matter, which was rated 60 per cent in judging, the netted variety grown by E. R. Lewis of Winterburn, and W. L. McGillivray of Coaldale, topped all 32 entries in the cooking quality, with 20.8 per cent in dry matter. Toni Ohama of Rainier, with 20.2 on dryness, placed second in overall. Competing with the famed Idaho russets in the potato trade 300 to 400 car loads of Alberta Gems are shipped out of the province annually.

Fairview School Constructs New Modern Classroom

Classes at F.S.A. got away to a good start last week, and finished with a dance at the week-end, the first social of 1956. At this dance a new venture was tried out, dancing to recorded music, to supplement that of the school orchestras. This will likely become a fixed part of the social program if suitable records for dancing can be obtained, as the Students' Union, with the assistance of the Staff, have purchased a record player with variable speed. This will be used for skating as well as for dancing, and "just listening" for pleasure.

With the completion of a new classroom, re-arrangement of the Motors Lab, Battery Charging Room, work bench and repair cribs, all motor mechanics instruction is now located in the Mechanics' Bldg. at F.S.A. The height of the original building provided ample room for an addition of a second storey above the main floor laboratory. In this upper section a new classroom 28 by 38 feet was constructed, accessible from the balcony in the gymnasium, from the mechanics' building, and from the carpentry shop. The new construction includes an instructors' office, storage room for materials for resale for use in the woodwork projects of the boys' courses, a storage room for lumber used in carpentry instruction, and finally, a well-ventilated paint room with storage accommodation for students' projects.

The main floor construction divides the mechanics' building into a motors laboratory, a machinery laboratory for field machines, and repair bays for tractors. In the motors lab is located special equipment: spark plug cleaner and tester, valve refacer, and seat grinder, wash rack for varsol washing, and a battery charger. Other equipment in this lab includes single cylinder engines that are used to demonstrate the 4-stroke cycle principle, and multi-cylinder engines used for valve setting, timing, and various other exercises related to motors.

In the overhaul bays is a steam cleaner (jenny) for cleaning motors before overhauling. To facilitate this is an overhead track with which an engine may be removed from the chassis and shifted to the shop for dismantling and repair.

Also worthy of note is the soundproofing of the classroom, the adequate ventilation throughout, which assures removal of all exhaust and oil fumes through a ventilating duct in the motors lab, removal of paint fumes from the painting room, and circulation of fresh air through ventilating stacks in the class room. The motor lab has 3-way electrical outlets for plugging in equipment, an overhead water system for cooling engines used in the instructional lab. The compressed air system serves both the shop and the lab, and when completed will extend into the tractor bays. Lighting is also adequate, so that all shop work may be done efficiently without eyestrain or mishap.

Mr. Osbaldeston is most enthusiastic over the extension to the school plant. "It is a great saver of time," he said, "now that it is not necessary to lecture in Room 'A' or 'E', then hurry down to the mechanics' building for practical labs. Also, my equipment is so much handier".

Emergent Aid Asked For Snow Plowing School Bus Routes, By S.C. Association

VERMILION — At a meeting held at George's Lower Deck, Vermilion, on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 4, the executive of the Vermilion Constituency Social Credit Association passed a resolution calling on the provincial government to extend emergency aid to the municipalities to help with the cost of snow plowing school bus routes. The resolution was moved by Alex G. Stone of R.R. 3, Vermilion, and seconded by Steve Uniat of Beauvalon. Copies will be forwarded immediately to Premier Manning and the Hon. A. J. Hooke, Minister of Municipal Affairs.

Another matter discussed, particularly to Derwent and district residents, was that of additional hours of telephone service there. Information will be gathered from those directly interested before a definite recommendation is made.

James A. Smith, M.P. for Battle River-Camrose Federal Constituency, passed along the suggestion made at the recent provincial Social Credit convention that a constituency official be appointed to effect a contact and greater cooperation between the government and the executives of the contsituencies not represented by Social Credit members.

The motion was made by Ralph Wagner of Mannville, seconded by Clarence Ewing of Mannville, that Ashley H. Cooper of Vermilion be appointed the contact man for the Vermilion Constituency.

The executive has plans to hold regular meetings and these will be held at all centres in the constituency. Citizens in every part will thus be able to effect easy contact with executive members, who, in turn, are in constant touch with provincial government and Social Credit Association officials.

Fire Destroys Four-Room School

FAUST — The four-room school building at Faust was recently demolished by fire. It is thought the fire broke out in the attic, above one of the rooms, and in the short time before help could be called, the fire spread so rapidly as to make entry into the building impossible.

Volunteer helpers worked tirelessly to prevent the fire from spreading to the teacherage, new school and the fuel house in the school yards. The school children are now attending school in shifts of 3½ hours each shift. The club room in the curling rink has been rented to furnish room for two classes per day. The three other buildings being used for classes have also been re-established as classrooms.

The new four-roomed school building which is partially completed will be finished with an addition of four more rooms as soon as the weather warms up enough for the carpenters to resume their work.

Ernie Merkel Lays Eight Ender

VEGREVILLE — The Heather Curling Club seems to have again tried to break a record, for Ernie Merkel and fellow team-mates got an eight-ender on J. C. Campbell this past week.

A photographer was rushed to the spot, so Ernie would have proof to back his story the next day as he worked in his barber shop.

To Hold Inquest Into Accident Deaths

HIGH PRAIRIE — An inquest into the death on Jan. 3 of Sidney Williams, 47, and his son Wesley Henry Williams, 25, has been announced for Jan. 18 by Coroner J. W. Bissell.

Father and son were both killed instantly when the car in which they were passengers ran into the rear of a loaded gravel truck which was parked on the highway about three miles from the Repeater Station on the road to Valleyview.

The driver of the car, Eric Morey, was not seriously injured and was released from hospital the following day.

Mr. Williams is survived by his widow and two daughters, the family having recently moved to Valleyview from Valparaiso, Sask.

Hunter Killed

Patrick Paul, about 40, of Peace River was killed on Wednesday in a hunting accident in the Peace River area when a gun carried by his companion accidentally discharged, relatives here said Thursday. Paul was the father of six children.

Storm Paralizes District

Blizzard conditions last week held most outside activities at a standstill in Redwater and district for two days.

Drifting snow kept the snowplowing crews busy in Redwater trying to clear the main streets. Worst drifting conditions were on the townsite roads, with some completely blocked for half a block or more. Most calls for digging out came from householders, who were unable to get their cars out of the garages due to the fact that the lanes were drifted full of snow.

School vans did not go out on the first blizzard day due to the fact that the weather department had posted a storm warning. Some country roads are still impassable but it is expected that they will be cleared shortly if there is no recurrence of blizzard conditions.

Some farmers in the district are reporting a shortage of hay, due to the long spell of inclement weather, while others are selling their surplus.

Fed. Gov't. Will Re-imburse Western Farmers On 200,000,000 Bushels

By T. W. PUE

Representations made by government and farm leaders in Alberta and the other two western provinces to ease the burden of the grain farmer in storing surplus grain are getting results this week.

It is understood, that at the session of Parliament which opened in Ottawa last week, legislation will be passed to pay upwards of 15c per bushel per year, on upwards of two hundred million bushels of grain held in storage on western farms.

By going back over the past six or eight years, the wheat board can find out what would be a "normal" carryover that grain farmers in the west would expect to store on their farms in a normal crop year. This will be deducted from the estimated current figure for total bushelage of grain now kept on storage on farms and on the difference the government will pay 15c per bushel per year of 1¼c per bushel per month.

Added to the new prospect of getting paid for storing their grain, is the fact that the railways are moving grain out of country elevators at a faster clip since the first of the year. Some points that had not had a box car for weeks, now have several in a single week. More grain is moving to the port terminals and that leaves more space in country elevators for increased deliveries from the farms.

One Dies, Three In Hospital From Carbon Monoxide

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE (BUP) — One woman was killed and an elderly man detained in hospital as a result of carbon monoxide fumes which leaked into a car, near Rocky Mountain House.

Three other occupants of the car received oxygen treatment and were allowed to go home.

Dead is Mrs. L. Derocher, 42, of Rocky Mountain House. J. Kais, 70, is being detained in the town hospital and is reportedly in improved condition.

Other occupants of the car were Nick Stadnick, Laverne Kais, 20, daughter of Mr. Kais, and G. Beatt, 15, all of Rocky Mountain House.

R.C.M.P. reports indicated that exhaust fumes started to leak into the car driven by Mr. Stadnick, while travelling from Red Deer to Rocky Mountain House. Fifteen miles from its destination, the car skidded into the ditch, when Stadnick became drowsy from the fumes. He was thrown clear of the car when the front door flew open from the mpact.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Derocher will be held.

Rocky Mountain House is some 60 miles west of Red Deer

Teachers' Institute Plans June Examinations and School Festival

A very successful institute for the teachers of the Clover Bar School Division was held in the Salisbury High School on Tuesday, January 3, under the general chairmanship of the superintendent, Dr. J. C. Jonason. The main purposes of the institute were to make plans for the June final examinations to be set by the division and to continue the planning for the school festival to be held in the spring.

Last June uniform final examinations in the fundamental subjects were given to all pupils in the division in all grades except 9 and 12, in which grades the Department of Education provides final examinations.

In addition to providing a basis upon which to make promotion decisions it was felt that the examinations given last June helped to set definite achievement standards for all pupils throughout the division. This provided good motivation for teaching and also served to stimulate studying on the part of the pupils.

Mrs. A. Ruskin, A.T.C.M., L.R.S.M. who has been appointed Supervisor of Music for the Clover Bar School Division, was introduced to the teaching staff. During the day she took an important part in planning the five regional school festivals, which will be held in the division this spring. The regional centres are: Wye, Ellerslie, Salisbury, Partridge Hill and Fort Saskatchewan. By way of culmination a final concert consisting of selected numbers from each regional festival will be held at a central location.

During the morning session Mrs. L. Finley, the Helping Teacher for the division reported on the reading and language improvement program under her direction.

In the afternoon the high school teachers met in special session under the chairmanship of Mr. W. S. Elliott, Principal of the Fort Saskatchewan High School. The guest speaker at this meeting was Mr. A. Evenson, Associate Director of Curriculum, Department of Education. Mr. Evenson dealt with recent high school curriculum changes; the problem of final examinations for Grades 10 and 11, and the possibility of devising standardized achievement tests for grade four and above to test pupil achievement in the fundamental subjects.

At the conclusion of the institute a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Roland Lambert, principal, and Mrs. Gladys Harper, household economics teacher of the Salisbury High School for providing coffee and light refreshments during the morning and noon intermissions.

Workless Miners Rehabiliated

EDMONTON (BUP) — Labor Minister Raymond Reierson revealed in Edmonton that there is no unemployment due to the decline in Alberta's coal industry.

Speaking before premier Manning and members of his cabinet, Reierson told of how nearly two years ago the province was faced with the prospect of some 1,000 miners being thrown out of work by the closing of mines.

Through the combined efforts of government, labor unions and individuals the crises was averted by helping miners get started in other lines of work, and paying transportaiton costs to centres where work was available.

Reierson revealed this in a summary of the work done by the provincial coal miners' rehabilitation committee, established in April, 1954, with a grant of $100,000 from the provincial legislature.

In the months prior to the formation of the committee, coal production and marketing was declining gradually. Markets were disappearing steadily, due in a large part to the railways' conversion to diesel power. This was followed by layoffs of 800 men at Crowsnest Pass, when the International mine at Coleman, Alta., was closed.

Then followed the closing of the Bryan Mountain mine at Robb, and reductions in staff at McGillivray mine in Coleman, Brazzeau Collieries at Nordegg and Luscar Collieries at Luscar.

According to government estimates, counting men unemployed and their families, between 2,500 and 3,000 persons were affected.

Soviet farm workers have been planting corn, but heavy penalties are imposed on those who plant the corn mproperly.
